About Responsive Inspections
A responsive inspection, performed by an RHRA inspector, is a physical inspection of a licensed retirement home. A responsive inspection is conducted when RHRA receives information that the licensee may have failed to meet the standards of the Retirement Homes Act, 2010 or its regulations (the “RHA”). An inspection being conducted does not infer that an allegation is substantiated or that a contravention of the RHA has occurred. A licensee is required to report to RHRA if they suspect harm or risk of harm to a resident. During a responsive inspection, an RHRA inspector may observe the operations of the home, interview relevant individuals, review records and other documentation, and determine whether the licensee’s management and staff have followed mandatory policies and practices designed to protect the welfare of residents. Following a responsive inspection, the RHRA inspector prepares a draft inspection report which is sent to the licensee. The draft report may include instances where the licensee has failed to meet the standards of the RHA. If included, the licensee can respond to these instances and is strongly encouraged to inform RHRA of its plans to meet the standards of the RHA. Following the draft report, the RHRA inspector prepares this final inspection report, incorporating any response from the licensee with their plans to meet the standards of the RHA. The most recent final inspection report must be posted in the home in a visible and easily accessible location. All final inspection reports from the previous two years must also be made available in an easily accessible location in the home. The licensee must provide a copy of this report to the home’s Residents’ Council, if one exists. In addition to inspection reports, RHRA may provide information to a licensee to encourage improvements of their current practices. If there is a serious incident or the licensee repeatedly does not meet the required standards, RHRA may take further action.

Concern(s)

During a responsive inspection, an inspector will focus primarily on the concern(s) which prompted the inspection and may take various actions to determine whether the licensee is compliant with the RHA in relating to the concern(s). Any findings of non-compliance identified in relation to these concerns are listed below.

Concern #1: CON-8337-Behaviour ManagementRHRA Inspector Findings

The Licensee reported to the RHRA that an incident of potential resident-to-resident physical abuse had occurred. As part of the inspection in response to this, the inspector conducted interviews and reviewed policies, documentation, and records within the home. The inspector found that the Licensee followed their Zero Tolerance of Abuse policy appropriately and took steps to reduce the likelihood of an incident reoccurring. However, the inspector found that both residents involved were exhibiting responsive behaviours related to dementia and, although the behaviours posed a safety risk to either the residents themselves or others, there was no evidence of behaviour management strategies. The Licensee did not develop behaviour managements strategies needed for preventing and intervening with these responsive behaviours. The Licensee failed to ensure their behaviour management strategy was adhered to as required.

Outcome

The Licensee has demonstrated it has taken corrective action to achieve compliance.

Concern #2: CON-8372-Resident Record, Assessment, Plan of CareRHRA Inspector Findings

The Licensee reported to the RHRA that an incident of potential resident-to-resident physical abuse had occurred. As part of the inspection in response to this, the inspector reviewed documentation and records within the home relating to the two residents. The inspector found that one resident's plan of care was not signed and approved at the time of the inspection. The Licensee failed to ensure they possessed a plan of care that was signed and approved by the resident's substitute decision maker.

Outcome

The Licensee has demonstrated it has taken corrective action to achieve compliance.

Additional Findings

During a responsive inspection, an inspector may observe areas of non-compliance that are not related to the concern(s) which prompted the inspection. In these cases, an inspector may cite the home for these contraventions at the time of this inspection. In addition, an inspector may follow-up on findings of non-compliance from previous inspections. Where the licensee is unable to demonstrate they have come into compliance or maintained compliance, an inspector may cite the home for these repeat contraventions at the time of this inspection.
