About Responsive Inspections

A responsive inspection, performed by an RHRA inspector, is a physical inspection of a licensed retirement home. A responsive inspection is conducted when RHRA receives information that the licensee may have failed to meet the standards of the Retirement Homes Act, 2010 or its regulations (the “RHA”). An inspection being conducted does not infer that an allegation is substantiated or that a contravention of the RHA has occurred. A licensee is required to report to RHRA if they suspect harm or risk of harm to a resident. During a responsive inspection, an RHRA inspector may observe the operations of the home, interview relevant individuals, review records and other documentation, and determine whether the licensee’s management and staff have followed mandatory policies and practices designed to protect the welfare of residents.

Following a responsive inspection, the RHRA inspector prepares a draft inspection report which is sent to the licensee. The draft report may include instances where the licensee has failed to meet the standards of the RHA. If included, the licensee can respond to these instances and is strongly encouraged to inform RHRA of its plans to meet the standards of the RHA.

Following the draft report, the RHRA inspector prepares this final inspection report, incorporating any response from the licensee with their plans to meet the standards of the RHA. The most recent final inspection report must be posted in the home in a visible and easily accessible location. All final inspection reports from the previous two years must also be made available in an easily accessible location in the home. The licensee must provide a copy of this report to the home’s Residents’ Council, if one exists.

In addition to inspection reports, RHRA may provide information to a licensee to encourage improvements of their current practices.

If there is a serious incident or the licensee repeatedly does not meet the required standards, RHRA may take further action.

Concern(s)

During a responsive inspection, an inspector will focus primarily on the concern(s) which prompted the inspection and may take various actions to determine whether the licensee is compliant with the RHA in relating to the concern(s). Any findings of non-compliance identified in relation to these concerns are listed below.

Concern #1: CON-8391-Sexual Abuse - Resident

RHRA Inspector Findings

An anonymous report was made to the RHRA regarding resident-to-resident abuse between one resident and several other residents. As a result of the report the inspector attended the home, speaking to residents and their families, staff, and management, as well as reviewed documentation. Although the inspector was not able to determine whether the incidents met the threshold of abuse, the Licensee was not able to demonstrate that they had fully documented the complaints from the residents regarding this resident's behaviour towards them. Further, the home was not training staff annually on their complaints policy or zero tolerance of abuse policy. The Licensee was not able to demonstrate that they had documented all complaints from residents, or trained staff annually in all required areas.

Outcome

The Licensee submitted a plan to achieve compliance by April 12, 2024. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Concern #2: CON-8392-Improper or Incompetent Treatment or Care - Behaviour management

RHRA Inspector Findings

As part of the inspection into the potential resident to resident abuse allegations, the inspector reviewed the chart of the subject residents. The inspector learned that the home had not been updating residents' plans of care every six months as required. In addition, the home had not included a resident's behaviour needs into their plan of care, nor had they implemented strategies and techniques to prevent and address the resident's behaviour, and further had not completed heightened monitoring following any incidents.

Outcome

The Licensee has advised it has taken corrective action to achieve compliance. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Additional Findings

During a responsive inspection, an inspector may observe areas of non-compliance that are not related to the concern(s) which prompted the inspection. In these cases, an inspector may cite the home for these contraventions at the time of this inspection. In addition, an inspector may follow-up on findings of non-compliance from previous inspections. Where the licensee is unable to demonstrate they have come into compliance or maintained compliance, an inspector may cite the home for these repeat contraventions at the time of this inspection.
