About Responsive Inspections

A responsive inspection, performed by an RHRA inspector, is a physical inspection of a licensed retirement home. A responsive inspection is conducted when RHRA receives information that the licensee may have failed to meet the standards of the Retirement Homes Act, 2010 or its regulations (the “RHA”). An inspection being conducted does not infer that an allegation is substantiated or that a contravention of the RHA has occurred. A licensee is required to report to RHRA if they suspect harm or risk of harm to a resident. During a responsive inspection, an RHRA inspector may observe the operations of the home, interview relevant individuals, review records and other documentation, and determine whether the licensee’s management and staff have followed mandatory policies and practices designed to protect the welfare of residents.

Following a responsive inspection, the RHRA inspector prepares a draft inspection report which is sent to the licensee. The draft report may include instances where the licensee has failed to meet the standards of the RHA. If included, the licensee can respond to these instances and is strongly encouraged to inform RHRA of its plans to meet the standards of the RHA.

Following the draft report, the RHRA inspector prepares this final inspection report, incorporating any response from the licensee with their plans to meet the standards of the RHA. The most recent final inspection report must be posted in the home in a visible and easily accessible location. All final inspection reports from the previous two years must also be made available in an easily accessible location in the home. The licensee must provide a copy of this report to the home’s Residents’ Council, if one exists.

In addition to inspection reports, RHRA may provide information to a licensee to encourage improvements of their current practices.

If there is a serious incident or the licensee repeatedly does not meet the required standards, RHRA may take further action.

Concern(s)

During a responsive inspection, an inspector will focus primarily on the concern(s) which prompted the inspection and may take various actions to determine whether the licensee is compliant with the RHA in relating to the concern(s). Any findings of non-compliance identified in relation to these concerns are listed below.

Concern #1: CON-8358-NeglectRHRA Inspector Findings

A report was made to RHRA regarding several allegations related to neglect and abuse, including an allegation of resident to resident abuse with injury. As part of the inspection in response to the allegation, the inspector interviewed potential witnesses to the alleged incidents, reviewed multiple residents' care files, including progress notes and plans of care, complaints log, staff training, internal documents and reviewed the Licensee's behaviour management strategy and zero tolerance to abuse policy. The inspector found one plan of care not approved by the residents substitute decision maker. Additionally, one resident was found to not be re-assessed and their plan of care revised in a timely manner when there was a significant change in status related to mobility and transfer abilities. Furthermore, one residents' plan of care did not include details and directions for staff surrounding the residents' oxygen therapy for palliative care. The Licensee failed to ensure assessments and plans of care were completed as required.

In addition, the inspector reviewed an incident of resident to resident witnessed physical abuse. The inspector interviewed witnesses, and reviewed both residents care file and progress notes. The inspector found evidence that an injury was sustained by another residents, and the Licensee failed to report the incident to the Registrar. Additionally, the inspector found no evidence the residents substitute decision maker was made aware of the incident and no assessment was completed when the home was made aware. The Licensee failed to ensure they followed their Zero Tolerance to Abuse Policy, in full.

Outcome

The Licensee submitted a plan to achieve compliance by June 10, 2024. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Additional Findings

During a responsive inspection, an inspector may observe areas of non-compliance that are not related to the concern(s) which prompted the inspection. In these cases, an inspector may cite the home for these contraventions at the time of this inspection. In addition, an inspector may follow-up on findings of non-compliance from previous inspections. Where the licensee is unable to demonstrate they have come into compliance or maintained compliance, an inspector may cite the home for these repeat contraventions at the time of this inspection.
