About Responsive Inspections

A responsive inspection, performed by an RHRA inspector, is a physical inspection of a licensed retirement home. A responsive inspection is conducted when RHRA receives information that the licensee may have failed to meet the standards of the Retirement Homes Act, 2010 or its regulations (the “RHA”). An inspection being conducted does not imply that an allegation is substantiated or that a contravention of the RHA has occurred. A licensee is required to report to RHRA if they suspect harm or risk of harm to a resident. During a responsive inspection, an RHRA inspector may observe the operations of the home, interview relevant individuals, review records and other documentation, and determine whether the licensee’s management and staff have followed mandatory policies and practices designed to protect the welfare of residents.

Following a responsive inspection, the RHRA inspector prepares a draft inspection report which is sent to the licensee. The draft report may include instances where the licensee has failed to meet the standards of the RHA. If included, the licensee can respond to these instances and is strongly encouraged to inform RHRA of its plans to meet the standards of the RHA.

Following the draft report, the RHRA inspector prepares this final inspection report, incorporating any response from the licensee with their plans to meet the standards of the RHA. The most recent final inspection report must be posted in the home in a visible and easily accessible location. All final inspection reports from the previous two years must also be made available in an easily accessible location in the home. The licensee must provide a copy of this report to the home’s Residents’ Council, if one exists.

In addition to inspection reports, RHRA may provide information to a licensee to encourage improvements of their current practices.

If there is a serious incident or the licensee repeatedly does not meet the required standards, RHRA may take further action.

Concern(s)

During a responsive inspection, an inspector will focus primarily on the concern(s) which prompted the inspection and may take various actions to determine whether the licensee is compliant with the RHA in relation to the concern(s). Any findings of non-compliance identified in relation to these concerns are listed below.

Concern #1: CON-5450-Improper or Incompetent Treatment or Care

RHRA Inspector Findings

The Licensee reported an incident involving responsive behaviours of a resident. As part of the inspection, the inspector reviewed the resident's care file. The inspector found that the initial assessment of the resident did not consider certain matters as required as part of the initial assessment. Furthermore, the Licensee failed to create an initial plan of care or subsequent full plan of care for the resident, as required. The Licensee failed to ensure that initial assessments and plans of care were being completed as required.

A review of the resident's record who was identified as having responsive behaviours indicated that the Licensee had not developed a behaviour management strategy that included techniques and strategies to prevent and address the resident's behaviours. The Licensee failed to implement their behaviour management policy fully.

The inspector also reviewed staff training records for staff involved in responding to the incident in the areas of Zero Tolerance of Abuse, Bill of Rights, Infection Control, Whistle Blower Protection, Personal Assistive Service Devices (PASDs), Fire prevention and safety, Emergency Plans, Injury Prevention, Complaints, Behaviour Management, and relevant Care Services. . The inspector found that the orientation training for two new staff was not completed prior to the staff members working in the home. The home was not able to determine that orientation training was being completed in alignment with the regulations.

Outcome

The Licensee has advised it has taken corrective action to achieve compliance. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Additional Findings

During a responsive inspection, an inspector may observe areas of non-compliance that are not related to the concern(s) which prompted the inspection. In these cases, an inspector may cite the home for these contraventions at the time of this inspection. In addition, an inspector may follow-up on findings of non-compliance from previous inspections. Where the licensee is unable to demonstrate they have come into compliance or maintained compliance, an inspector may cite the home for these repeat contraventions at the time of this inspection.
