About Responsive Inspections
A responsive inspection, performed by an RHRA inspector, is a physical inspection of a licensed retirement home. A responsive inspection is conducted when RHRA receives information that the licensee may have failed to meet the standards of the Retirement Homes Act, 2010 or its regulations (the “RHA”). An inspection being conducted does not imply that an allegation is substantiated or that a contravention of the RHA has occurred. A licensee is required to report to RHRA if they suspect harm or risk of harm to a resident. During a responsive inspection, an RHRA inspector may observe the operations of the home, interview relevant individuals, review records and other documentation, and determine whether the licensee’s management and staff have followed mandatory policies and practices designed to protect the welfare of residents. Following a responsive inspection, the RHRA inspector prepares a draft inspection report which is sent to the licensee. The draft report may include instances where the licensee has failed to meet the standards of the RHA. If included, the licensee can respond to these instances and is strongly encouraged to inform RHRA of its plans to meet the standards of the RHA. Following the draft report, the RHRA inspector prepares this final inspection report, incorporating any response from the licensee with their plans to meet the standards of the RHA. The most recent final inspection report must be posted in the home in a visible and easily accessible location. All final inspection reports from the previous two years must also be made available in an easily accessible location in the home. The licensee must provide a copy of this report to the home’s Residents’ Council, if one exists. In addition to inspection reports, RHRA may provide information to a licensee to encourage improvements of their current practices. If there is a serious incident or the licensee repeatedly does not meet the required standards, RHRA may take further action.

Concern(s)
During a responsive inspection, an inspector will focus primarily on the concern(s) which prompted the inspection and may take various actions to determine whether the licensee is compliant with the RHA in relation to the concern(s). Any findings of non-compliance identified in relation to these concerns are listed below.

Concern #1: CON-8193-Improper or Incompetent Treatment or Care

RHRA Inspector Findings

An inspection was conducted in response to a complaint of improper care of a resident. The inspector reviewed relevant documents, and policies, and spoke to staff and management at the home. There is a requirement that a resident's Plan of Care is followed, and those care services included in the Plan of Care are completed as scheduled. The inspector found that a resident's Plan of Care was not followed, when the home failed to consistently provide an agreed upon care service.

Outcome

The Licensee provided information indicating that corrective action was being taken, however, further action must be taken to achieve compliance with all areas outlined in the finding. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Concern #2: CON-8241-Improper or Incompetent Treatment or Care- Falls

RHRA Inspector Findings

An inspection was conducted after a complaint was made of alleged improper care of a resident, and negligence of proper safety controls. In response to the complaint, the inspector reviewed relevant documents and policies, spoke to staff and management, and observed a physical area of concern in the home. The inspector found that a resident fell in a common area of the home. Upon reviewed documentation and speaking with staff, the inspector learned that this was not the first incident of a resident falling in this area of the home. There is a requirement that if a resident falls in a common area of the home, or while being assisted by the licensee or staff the licensee ensures that corrective action is taken as necessary to prevent future harm to residents. The inspector found that the home did not take corrective action to prevent future harm in a common area of the home. Additionally, while reviewing documentation the inspector learned that a resident fell while being assisted by a staff member. The home failed to develop corrective actions to prevent future harm in response the fall. The inaction of the home jeopardized the safety of the resident and failed to protect them from neglect.

Outcome

The Licensee provided information indicating that corrective action was being taken, however, further action must be taken to achieve compliance with all areas outlined in the finding. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Additional Findings

During a responsive inspection, an inspector may observe areas of non-compliance that are not related to the concern(s) which prompted the inspection. In these cases, an inspector may cite the home for these contraventions at the time of this inspection. In addition, an inspector may follow-up on findings of non-compliance from previous inspections. Where the licensee is unable to demonstrate they have come into compliance or maintained compliance, an inspector may cite the home for these repeat contraventions at the time of this inspection.
