About Responsive Inspections

A responsive inspection, performed by an RHRA inspector, is a physical inspection of a licensed retirement home. A responsive inspection is conducted when RHRA receives information that the licensee may have failed to meet the standards of the Retirement Homes Act, 2010 or its regulations (the “RHA”). An inspection being conducted does not imply that an allegation is substantiated or that a contravention of the RHA has occurred. A licensee is required to report to RHRA if they suspect harm or risk of harm to a resident. During a responsive inspection, an RHRA inspector may observe the operations of the home, interview relevant individuals, review records and other documentation, and determine whether the licensee’s management and staff have followed mandatory policies and practices designed to protect the welfare of residents.

Following a responsive inspection, the RHRA inspector prepares a draft inspection report which is sent to the licensee. The draft report may include instances where the licensee has failed to meet the standards of the RHA. If included, the licensee can respond to these instances and is strongly encouraged to inform RHRA of its plans to meet the standards of the RHA.

Following the draft report, the RHRA inspector prepares this final inspection report, incorporating any response from the licensee with their plans to meet the standards of the RHA. The most recent final inspection report must be posted in the home in a visible and easily accessible location. All final inspection reports from the previous two years must also be made available in an easily accessible location in the home. The licensee must provide a copy of this report to the home’s Residents’ Council, if one exists.

In addition to inspection reports, RHRA may provide information to a licensee to encourage improvements of their current practices.

If there is a serious incident or the licensee repeatedly does not meet the required standards, RHRA may take further action.

Concern(s)

During a responsive inspection, an inspector will focus primarily on the concern(s) which prompted the inspection and may take various actions to determine whether the licensee is compliant with the RHA in relation to the concern(s). Any findings of non-compliance identified in relation to these concerns are listed below.

Concern #1: CON-8886-Improper or Incompetent Treatment or Care

RHRA Inspector Findings

A report was made to RHRA which included allegations relating to the care and safety of a resident. The inspector reviewed the resident's care files and interviewed staff and the resident. The inspector found that the resident did not have their plans of care approved appropriately, as there was no evidence that the plans had been approved by the residents or their substitute decision makers. Additionally, the inspector reviewed the call bell logs and confirmed that on several occasions the call bells were not responded to in a timely manner as instructed in the home's Communication and Response – Nurse Call Bells policy. Furthermore, it was confirmed that the staff had not received training related to the zero tolerance for abuse policy, complaints procedures, personal assistance services devices, or the Call Bell Policy as required. The inspector confirmed that the plan of care included details about the use of the call bell under continence care, fall risk, transfers and assistance with ambulation. However, the failure to ensure the staff were trained on the policy resulted in the Licensee's failure to ensure that the care and services were provided to the resident in accordance with the plan of care.

Lastly, the inspector reviewed the complaints log and found evidence that the concerns that were reported to the RHRA were also reported to the home in October and November of 2025. At the time of the inspection there was no evidence of a complaints log for December 2025, January 2026, February 2026 nor was there evidence of the complaints being analyzed quarterly. The Licensee failed to ensure that their written record of a complaint included all the required elements and that the complaints were analyzed as prescribed.

Outcome

The Licensee submitted a plan to achieve compliance by April 17, 2026. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Additional Findings

During a responsive inspection, an inspector may observe areas of non-compliance that are not related to the concern(s) which prompted the inspection. In these cases, an inspector may cite the home for these contraventions at the time of this inspection. In addition, an inspector may follow-up on findings of non-compliance from previous inspections. Where the licensee is unable to demonstrate they have come into compliance or maintained compliance, an inspector may cite the home for these repeat contraventions at the time of this inspection.
