About Responsive Inspections

A responsive inspection, performed by an RHRA inspector, is a physical inspection of a licensed retirement home. A responsive inspection is conducted when RHRA receives information that the licensee may have failed to meet the standards of the Retirement Homes Act, 2010 or its regulations (the “RHA”). An inspection being conducted does not imply that an allegation is substantiated or that a contravention of the RHA has occurred. A licensee is required to report to RHRA if they suspect harm or risk of harm to a resident. During a responsive inspection, an RHRA inspector may observe the operations of the home, interview relevant individuals, review records and other documentation, and determine whether the licensee’s management and staff have followed mandatory policies and practices designed to protect the welfare of residents.

Following a responsive inspection, the RHRA inspector prepares a draft inspection report which is sent to the licensee. The draft report may include instances where the licensee has failed to meet the standards of the RHA. If included, the licensee can respond to these instances and is strongly encouraged to inform RHRA of its plans to meet the standards of the RHA.

Following the draft report, the RHRA inspector prepares this final inspection report, incorporating any response from the licensee with their plans to meet the standards of the RHA. The most recent final inspection report must be posted in the home in a visible and easily accessible location. All final inspection reports from the previous two years must also be made available in an easily accessible location in the home. The licensee must provide a copy of this report to the home’s Residents’ Council, if one exists.

In addition to inspection reports, RHRA may provide information to a licensee to encourage improvements of their current practices.

If there is a serious incident or the licensee repeatedly does not meet the required standards, RHRA may take further action.

Concern(s)

During a responsive inspection, an inspector will focus primarily on the concern(s) which prompted the inspection and may take various actions to determine whether the licensee is compliant with the RHA in relation to the concern(s). Any findings of non-compliance identified in relation to these concerns are listed below.

Concern #1:RHRA Inspector Findings

The inspector reviewed the Licensee's complaints log and noted that there was no documentation of complaints since September 25, 2025 (last inspection). Specifically, there was no records seen of written or verbal complaints made to the licensee to include the nature of each verbal or written complaint, the date that the complaint was received, the type of action taken to resolve the complaint, including the date of the action, time frames for actions to be taken and any follow-up action required, the final resolution of the complaint, and every date on which any response was provided to the complainant and a description of the response. Furthermore, it was also noted that the Licensee did not analyze for trends quarterly. Consequently it was seen that the Licensee has failed to ensure that complaints are investigated, and a written record is kept in the retirement home and written record is reviewed and analyzed for trends at least quarterly.

Outcome

The Licensee has advised it has taken corrective action to achieve compliance. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Concern #2:RHRA Inspector Findings

The inspector reviewed a sample of training records in the areas of Zero tolerance of abuse, Bill of Rights, Infection control, Whistle Blower protection, Personal Assistive Service Devices (PASDs), Fire prevention and safety, Emergency plans, Injury prevention, Complaints, Behaviour management, and relevant Care services. The inspector reviewed not only records for staff recently hired to determine compliance with orientation training, but also a sample of training records for those hired previously to determine compliance with annual training in these areas.

The inspector found that three new staff members had not been trained in the Home's complaints procedure prior to staff member working in the home in alignment with the regulation.

Outcome

The Licensee submitted a plan to achieve compliance by Thursday April 30, 2026. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Additional Findings

During a responsive inspection, an inspector may observe areas of non-compliance that are not related to the concern(s) which prompted the inspection. In these cases, an inspector may cite the home for these contraventions at the time of this inspection. In addition, an inspector may follow-up on findings of non-compliance from previous inspections. Where the licensee is unable to demonstrate they have come into compliance or maintained compliance, an inspector may cite the home for these repeat contraventions at the time of this inspection.
