About Responsive Inspections
A responsive inspection, performed by an RHRA inspector, is a physical inspection of a licensed retirement home. A responsive inspection is conducted when RHRA receives information that the licensee may have failed to meet the standards of the Retirement Homes Act, 2010 or its regulations (the “RHA”). An inspection being conducted does not imply that an allegation is substantiated or that a contravention of the RHA has occurred. A licensee is required to report to RHRA if they suspect harm or risk of harm to a resident. During a responsive inspection, an RHRA inspector may observe the operations of the home, interview relevant individuals, review records and other documentation, and determine whether the licensee’s management and staff have followed mandatory policies and practices designed to protect the welfare of residents. Following a responsive inspection, the RHRA inspector prepares a draft inspection report which is sent to the licensee. The draft report may include instances where the licensee has failed to meet the standards of the RHA. If included, the licensee can respond to these instances and is strongly encouraged to inform RHRA of its plans to meet the standards of the RHA. Following the draft report, the RHRA inspector prepares this final inspection report, incorporating any response from the licensee with their plans to meet the standards of the RHA. The most recent final inspection report must be posted in the home in a visible and easily accessible location. All final inspection reports from the previous two years must also be made available in an easily accessible location in the home. The licensee must provide a copy of this report to the home’s Residents’ Council, if one exists. In addition to inspection reports, RHRA may provide information to a licensee to encourage improvements of their current practices. If there is a serious incident or the licensee repeatedly does not meet the required standards, RHRA may take further action.

Concern(s)

During a responsive inspection, an inspector will focus primarily on the concern(s) which prompted the inspection and may take various actions to determine whether the licensee is compliant with the RHA in relation to the concern(s). Any findings of non-compliance identified in relation to these concerns are listed below.

Concern #1: CON-9252-Behaviour ManagementRHRA Inspector Findings

An inspection was conducted in response to a complaint of improper care of a resident. In response to the complaint the inspector reviewed policies and procedures, spoke to relevant individuals, and reviewed the resident's care file. The home failed to reassess a resident and review their plan of care when they had a change in care needs or condition. Additionally, a resident demonstrated behaviours that posed a risk to themselves or others, and the home failed to implement monitoring of the resident as outlined in their behaviour management policy. The Licensee failed to fully implement their behaviour management policy and ensure that a resident was reassessed, and their plan of care updated as prescribed.

Outcome

The Licensee provided information indicating that corrective action was being taken, however, further action must be taken to achieve compliance with all areas outlined in the finding. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Concern #2: CON-9254-Improper or Incompetent Treatment or Care - MealsRHRA Inspector Findings

An inspection was conducted in response to a complaint of improper care of a resident. In response to the complaint the inspector review policies and procedures, spoke to relevant individuals, and reviewed the resident's care file. There is a requirement that when a home is providing a care service to a resident the service is documented in their Plan of Care. The Plan of Care must outline the details of the service, the goals of the service, and clear directions for the staff who provide direct care to the resident. The inspector found that the home was providing a care service to the resident which did not meet the above requirements.

Outcome

The Licensee provided information indicating that corrective action was being taken, however, further action must be taken to achieve compliance with all areas outlined in the finding. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Additional Findings

During a responsive inspection, an inspector may observe areas of non-compliance that are not related to the concern(s) which prompted the inspection. In these cases, an inspector may cite the home for these contraventions at the time of this inspection. In addition, an inspector may follow-up on findings of non-compliance from previous inspections. Where the licensee is unable to demonstrate they have come into compliance or maintained compliance, an inspector may cite the home for these repeat contraventions at the time of this inspection.
