About Responsive Inspections

A responsive inspection, performed by an RHRA inspector, is a physical inspection of a licensed retirement home. A responsive inspection is conducted when RHRA receives information that the licensee may have failed to meet the standards of the Retirement Homes Act, 2010 or its regulations (the “RHA”). An inspection being conducted does not imply that an allegation is substantiated or that a contravention of the RHA has occurred. A licensee is required to report to RHRA if they suspect harm or risk of harm to a resident. During a responsive inspection, an RHRA inspector may observe the operations of the home, interview relevant individuals, review records and other documentation, and determine whether the licensee’s management and staff have followed mandatory policies and practices designed to protect the welfare of residents.

Following a responsive inspection, the RHRA inspector prepares a draft inspection report which is sent to the licensee. The draft report may include instances where the licensee has failed to meet the standards of the RHA. If included, the licensee can respond to these instances and is strongly encouraged to inform RHRA of its plans to meet the standards of the RHA.

Following the draft report, the RHRA inspector prepares this final inspection report, incorporating any response from the licensee with their plans to meet the standards of the RHA. The most recent final inspection report must be posted in the home in a visible and easily accessible location. All final inspection reports from the previous two years must also be made available in an easily accessible location in the home. The licensee must provide a copy of this report to the home’s Residents’ Council, if one exists.

In addition to inspection reports, RHRA may provide information to a licensee to encourage improvements of their current practices.

If there is a serious incident or the licensee repeatedly does not meet the required standards, RHRA may take further action.

Concern(s)

During a responsive inspection, an inspector will focus primarily on the concern(s) which prompted the inspection and may take various actions to determine whether the licensee is compliant with the RHA in relation to the concern(s). Any findings of non-compliance identified in relation to these concerns are listed below.

Concern #1: CON-11284-Medical administration

RHRA Inspector Findings

A report was made to RHRA regarding concerns related to medication management and the home's response to concerns raised by the Substitute Decision Maker (SDM). As part of the inspection, the inspector interviewed the resident, SDM, staff, and management, and reviewed relevant medication records, policies, incident documentation, and training records. The inspector found that the home failed to investigate and respond to concerns in accordance with its complaint procedures and identified deficiencies in medication management practices, including inaccurate medication administration documentation and inadequate follow-up when prescribed medication was unavailable. The Licensee failed to ensure medication management and complaint procedures were implemented as required.

Outcome

The Licensee has advised it has taken corrective action to achieve compliance. RHRA to confirm compliance by following up with the Licensee or by inspection.

Concern #2: CON-11285-Improper or Incompetent Treatment or Care

RHRA Inspector Findings

A report was made to RHRA regarding concerns that a resident had been restricted in how they were to use their walker for mobility. As part of the inspection, the inspector interviewed the resident, the substitute decision maker (SDM), staff, and management, and reviewed the resident's plan of care. The inspection determined that the home could not demonstrate the restriction was based on the resident's assessed needs or supported by clinical justification. The restriction was added to the resident's plan of care despite the resident's disagreement. The Licensee failed to ensure care services were based on residents' assessed needs and individualized circumstances.

Outcome

The Licensee has demonstrated it has taken corrective action to achieve compliance.

Additional Findings

During a responsive inspection, an inspector may observe areas of non-compliance that are not related to the concern(s) which prompted the inspection. In these cases, an inspector may cite the home for these contraventions at the time of this inspection. In addition, an inspector may follow-up on findings of non-compliance from previous inspections. Where the licensee is unable to demonstrate they have come into compliance or maintained compliance, an inspector may cite the home for these repeat contraventions at the time of this inspection.
