ABOUT THE APPLICATION PROCESS

- The Retirement Homes Act, 2010 (Act) (available at www.ontario.ca/laws) sets out standards and requirements for retirement homes in Ontario.
- The Act establishes the Retirement Homes Regulatory Authority (RHRA), which is independent of government.
- The role of the RHRA is to regulate retirement homes and to provide education about the Act.
- As of July 1, 2012, homes that meet the definition of “retirement home” in the Act must have a licence from the RHRA to operate.
- “Retirement home” means a residential complex or the part of a residential complex:
 - that is occupied primarily by persons who are 65 years of age or older
 - that is occupied or intended to be occupied by at least the prescribed number of persons who are not related to the operator of the home, and Regulation 166/11 3. 1) For the purposes of clause (b) of the definition of “retirement home” in subsection 2 (1) of the Act, a residential complex or the part of a residential complex that is a retirement home must be occupied or be intended to be occupied by at least six persons who are not related to the operator of the home.

- Once you have determined that your home meets the definition of a “retirement home” under the Act, apply for a licence to operate by completing and submitting a licence application, the application fee and any required supporting materials to the RHRA.
- Submission of an application to the RHRA initiates the application process.

APPLYING FOR A RETIREMENT HOME LICENCE

COMPLETE AND SUBMIT AN APPLICATION FORM

To apply for a retirement home licence, you need to:

- Complete the relevant application – either a New Operations Licence Application, or an Acquisition Licence Application; and
- Submit the completed form, the application fee and supporting materials to the RHRA, at least six weeks before to the expected occupancy date of the home [or, the date of transfer if acquiring of an existing home].

The standard licence application processing time is six weeks. However, please note that if you are a new applicant, processing of your application may take longer than six weeks.

Applications received after the six-week deadline would need to be reviewed on an expedited basis and would be subject to an expedited fee, as set out in the RHRA's Fee Schedule.

The New Operation Licence Application form should be completed by individuals or organizations seeking a retirement home licence for a new retirement home:

- If any of the supporting materials are not available at the time of application submission, the Applicant can still submit the application and would provide the anticipated date(s) of additional document submission in the space provided.

On an application, you must designate a Primary Contact Person for the home:

- Ongoing service of RHRA correspondence including, for example, notices and reports required under the Act, will be delivered via mail in care of the Primary Contact Person at the home.

All applicants named on the application form must complete and submit Personal History Report forms, as applicable for individuals and/or corporations depending on the Applicant ownership structure [sole proprietorship, corporation or partnership].

Failure to submit the form and supporting materials by the deadline may result in a delay in processing your application.

If information submitted on the application form or any supporting material changes before the RHRA completes their application assessment, contact the RHRA.

FOR QUESTIONS OR ASSISTANCE

You can find and download the application forms and other information, including educational materials, on the RHRA website at www.rhra.ca.

If you require a hard copy of the forms, you can contact the RHRA at 1-855-ASK-RHRA (1-855-275-7472), and the forms will be sent to you.

SUBMIT APPLICATION FEE

You must submit an application fee with the application form.

As set out in the Fee Schedule, the application fee is:

- In part, based on the total number of rentable, residential units in their home, including any unoccupied units but not subsidized units;
- Not subject to tax

Applications received less than six weeks prior to the occupancy date of the retirement home may be reviewed on an expedited basis and are subject to a fee.

Expedited application fees can be paid in addition to the licence application fee if an applicant requires priority consideration for an application to be processed within two or four weeks ahead of the standard licence application processing time.

- If an expedited service is requested, an expedited application fee must be submitted concurrently with the licence application fee.

The RHRA will not begin to process an application before receiving all application fees. Current licence application fees are set out in the RHRA's Fee Schedule.

Current licence application fees are set out in the RHRA's Fee Schedule.

- Do not send cash by mail. Make a cheque or money order payable to Retirement Homes Regulatory Authority. Do not post-date cheques or money orders.
- All fees are non-refundable.
- A $50 processing fee for NSF (non-sufficient funds) cheques will apply.
- The Applicant's name must be clearly legible on the cheque or money order. If the name is not pre-printed on the cheque or money order, write it on the front of the cheque.

LICENCE APPLICATION ASSESSMENT

Once your application is submitted, the RHRA will review the information provided.

The RHRA reviews each application using criteria that are set out in the Act and relate to the Applicant's:

- Past experience and conduct,
- Ability to provide care services, and
- Competency to operate the home in a responsible manner in accordance with the Act

The RHRA may request more information to evaluate your ability to comply with the Act.

The RHRA will use a risk-based approach to review applications.

- This approach recognizes that homes applying for a licence will have different levels of readiness to comply with the Act.
- Homes that the RHRA considers lower risk may proceed more quickly through the process.

LICENCING

After reviewing an application, the Registrar of the RHRA may do one of the following:

- 1) Issue a licence
- 2) Issue a licence with conditions
- 3) Refuse to issue a licence

If the Registrar refuses to issue a licence or issues it with conditions, you will first receive a notice. The notice will set out the Registrar's proposed decision and the reasons for it.

- You will have the opportunity to make written submissions to the Registrar about the proposed decision. The Registrar will review your submission before making a final decision.

If the final decision is to refuse the licence or impose a condition, you will receive notice of the final decision.

- You may appeal the final decision to the Licence Appeal Tribunal (LAT).
- To find out more about the LAT, visit <https://tribunalsontario.ca/lat/>.

AFTER LICENSING

POST-LICENSING INFORMATION

Once you receive a licence, you must post it in a conspicuous place where RHRA inspectors, residents and others can easily see it.

Retirement home licences are NOT transferable.

If the owner of a retirement home sells the home, or if there is any change of controlling interests in a licensee, the licence terminates and a new licence application is necessary.

The RHRA does not renew licences.

- Subject to a licensee paying its fees and maintaining compliance with the Act, a licence is valid until the Registrar revokes it, the licensee surrenders it, or an event such as a sale triggers its termination.

THE RETIREMENT HOME DATABASE

The Act requires the RHRA to maintain a publicly-displayed Retirement Home Database that contains information about applicants and licensees.

Information in the Retirement Home Database must be kept current and includes:

- Retirement home's name and address
- Name and contact information for the home's Primary Contact Person and administration/management personnel
- Care services provided in each home
- Occupancy capacity of each home
- Summaries of each home's inspection reports
- Any orders imposed on licensed homes under the Act

CHANGES TO INFORMATION / CONTROLLING INTEREST

You must notify the RHRA in writing of any material change in any of the information provided on the application form and/or supporting materials.

In addition, you must notify the RHRA of any change in information contained in the Retirement Home Database by completing and submitting a Notice of Change Form which can be found at www.rhra.ca in the Operator Resources section.

Please note that changes in a controlling interest will terminate a retirement home licence. If this occurs, contact the RHRA for assistance.

RHRA INSPECTIONS

Once you receive a licence, or become a licensee under the Act, you will be subject to RHRA inspections.

An inspection may occur for different reasons.

- For example, it may be in response to a report of harm or risk of harm to a resident, or to monitor compliance with the Act.
- You may be subject to a “spot” or “random” inspection without notice.

The frequency and duration of routine inspections will depend on the RHRA’s risk assessment of the home.

All homes will receive at least one inspection every three years.

COMPLIANCE RESOURCES

The RHRA has created tools to help you understand the Act and the standards that will apply to your home.

Visit the Operator Resources section at www.rhra.ca to access:

- A plain-language guide for the Act
- Educational fact sheets
- Compliance checklists
- Online Compliance Assistance Modules (CAMs)

ANNUAL LICENCE FEE

- The Act permits the RHRA to set and charge fees. The RHRA does not receive government funding and depends on industry fees to fund its operations.
- For current licence application fees and annual fees, refer to the RHRA’s Fee Schedule in the Operator Resources section of www.rhra.ca.
- A licensee must pay an Annual Licence Fee to the RHRA
- These fees will go toward the cost of administering the Act, including RHRA activities relating to educating the public, compliance and enforcement of the Act.
- Rates for the annual licence fee are also included in the Fee Schedule.
- Annual fees are levied based on the number of residential units (or suites) in a home, including any unoccupied residential units.
- It is the responsibility of the Applicant to notify the RHRA of any changes to the number of residential units that occur during the application process.

OTHER FEES

The RHRA may also charge licensees a fee for costs related to certain activities or services under the Act, for example:

- Late application fees
- Inspections
